

Fuel demand decreases by 11.7 per cent in July

As per official data, India's fuel demand is starting to be flat as consumption decreases to 11.7 per cent in July. Fuel consumption, which is a measure of economic activity in the country, dropped over 45 per cent in April because of a lockdown all the traffic and shut industries are shut down. After removing the lockdown restrictions, the demand increases in May and June as the consumption numbers rise.
