

India's GDP falls to 3.1% in Q4

India's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) fell to 3.1 percent in the January-March quarter of 2019-20 and it is the worst case since 2009, due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The government imposed a lockdown on March 25 in the country due to which all economic activities remain standstill. Thus, it brought a huge impact on economic growth and led to a fall in GDP. In the corresponding quarter of the year 2018-19, the GDP expanded to 5.7% per the data of the NSO.
