

Sony WF-1000XM4 True Wireless Earphones Key features, Price and Specifications Leaked

Sony WF-1000XM4 Wireless Earphones Specifications and price leaked online. According to rumours, new truly wireless earbuds are expected to launch before June 8 2021. Sony's earbuds will come with active features such as noise cancellation(ANC), which will offer up to 24 hours battery life, wireless charging, speak-to-chat etc. Let's take a look at the leaked Price and Specifications:-

Sony WF-1000XM4 Earbuds Specifications(Leaked)

Some big changes are expected in the design of the Sony WF-1000XM4. New earbuds are smaller in size and features and specifications are the new ones. These earbuds will carry a 24 hours battery hump in a single charge. It could also launch in the gold colour variant. Charging pins and sensors are located on the bottom side of the earbuds.

The charging case could be recharged by USB type-C cable or Qi wireless charging. These will carry the Speak-to-chat option which can pause the music and turn on transparency mode on earbuds automatically when the user's voice is heard by the headset.

Price of Sony WF-1000XM4 Headset (Leaked)

According to WinFuture, the upcoming Sony TWS will launch for EUR 279.99(approximately Rs.24700). Mainly these will launch in two colours Black and White and could also launch in Gold colour in future.

Other notable points shown in the video are IPX4 water resistance, total claimed battery life of 24 hours including the charging case, adaptive sound controller. It continues to play the music once the Chat is over and also contains other audio features such as support for LDAC and Hi-Res audio.

There is no official news by Sony on the release of the official launch date of Sony WF-1000M4. However, rumours suggested the launch in a couple of weeks.