

Facebook launches Manage Activity Tool

The social media giant Facebook has launched a managed activity tool for users that will help users to delete their old posts. This tool helps to manage old posts, users can archive their old posts so that no one else can see them or you can delete your old posts that will automatically transfer into the trash and after 30 days it will be deleted permanently.