

45 Days Paid Internship Program by Flipkart for Students

Flipkart is on the lookout for students who can do jobs in its supply and organization chain as interns for 45-days as the company inclines up to its function for the upcoming festive season sale.

This is a paid off internship chance from Flipkart with interns being paid around Rs 500 per day, though the payment will be formed on the local state and labor laws and can be as high as Rs 600 per day. The offer is a piece of Flipkart's Launchpad program.

Flipkart has clearly said, that while it is looking for interns, to get them jobs straight with educational institutes. So if you want an internship with Flipkart under the Launchpad program, you should approach your institute or college rather than Flipkart.

"Students from tier-II cities and over will get a chance to work across main supply chain functions at Flipkart's facilities across India," Flipkart gave a statement. "Launchpad will assist students to get critical skills in supply chain management and create an ecosystem of trained professionals for e-commerce manufacturing."

The program will also help Flipkart to manage its supply organization chain successfully during the festive season sale when it is holding Flipkart Big Billion Days sale.

Flipkart says that it is working with "educational organization over 21 locations in India involving Bhiwandi (Maharashtra), Malur (Karnataka), Uluberia and Dankuni (West Bengal), Binola (Haryana), and Medchal (Telangana) and alot more to identify estimated students and engage the selected students at its fulfillment centers.”

Aside from money, the interns will also get an opportunity to learn new skills. “Upon joining, students will be guided in various features of supply chain management while following strict practices that prioritize their health and safety,” said the company.

‘Flipkart started up the Launchpad internship job program last year to offer students hands-on experience of working in a state-of-the-art modern supply chain and instil required skills to succeed in this industry We are confident of giving an engaging and immersive working experience to our interns during the upcoming festive season, which will help create more interest towards the supply chain.” said Amitesh Jha, The senior vice-president, Flipkart, said.

In 2019, the internship program had the participation of over 2,000 students during The Big Billion Days.
